

I favor the adoption of rules set forth in RM-10352. I have operated in the 160 meter amateur band for the nearly 50 years I have been licensed. The evolution of frequency availability and equipment capabilities has made this segment very popular in recent years. In order to enhance the utilization of the entire segment while improving the effectiveness of all modes, formalizing these rules will reduce the contention between conflicting interests. This can only improve the operators experiences on the band and save the FCC from excessive involvement in resolution of conflicts. Barry Boothe, W9UCW
